

Getting to Penrith Valley

Penrith Valley covers the same area as the City of Penrith Local Government Area and is located 55 kilometres west of Sydney at the foot of the Blue Mountains. Most of Penrith Valley is located east of the Nepean River and west of Ropes Creek but also includes Emu Plains, which is west of the Nepean River. Penrith Valley is closely settled along the east-west road and rail transport corridors, while the remainder of the city to the north and south is predominantly rural. Penrith Valley covers an area of 407 square kilometres and has a population of nearly 180,000.

SELF DRIVE

From Sydney- Use the M4 Motorway. For Penrith take either The Northern Road Exit or the Mulgoa Road Exit. Take the Mamre Road Exit for St Marys. Take the Russell Street Exit for Emu Plains.

From the South- From the South Western Freeway/ Hume Highway take the Penrith Exit and follow Route 9 signs along Northern Road to Penrith or continue past the Northern Road Exit and take the M7 Tollway (e-TOLL only) to the M4.

From the North- From the Sydney Newcastle Freeway or Pacific Highway follow Pennant Hills Road and the Cumberland Highway to M4 Motorway. Turn right along M4. Or use M2 (cash toll) and M7 Tollway (e-TOLL only).

From the West- From the M4 Motorway/ Great Western Highway. For Penrith take either The Northern Road Exit, or the Mulgoa Road Exit. Take the Mamre Road Exit for St Marys. Take the Russell Street Exit for Emu Plains.

MAPS- See the maps on Pages 38 – 41 or for more detail purchase a Sydway Greater Sydney map or Street Directory from the Penrith Valley Visitor Information Centre.

For information about Transport see Page 37.

Sydway Street Directories, maps of Greater Sydney, Blue Mountains and beyond are available from the Penrith Valley Visitor Information Centre 1300 736 836

WHERE IS THAT?
Boating on Nepean River.
Looking South from The Rock Lookout.

PAGE 10 www.penrithvalley.com.au

